Assigment Title: Frontier No planet is safe

Prompt: Create a poster of a science fiction of the downtown in a futuristic city in a planet that is not earth that it shows how some mechanic aliens dinosaurs are fighting with super soldiers with tanks and bazooka, they're fighting so it directs all the attention to the middle of the fight with all the explosions and the chaos in the city, make the city look like an old and catastrophic version of Los Angeles, with the beach and the palms on the background. The dinosaurs need to be the same tall as a big tree, make them look heavy and strong, the supersoldiers needs to be look as they have big armors and big guns running and shooting to the dinosours. There should contrast between the colours on the fight, it needs to start warm as a red on the top and finish with an orange on the sand of the beach.

Vocabulary Breakdown: Lines are what make us look toward the side they guide us to and give balance and meaning to the painting according to their shape. Shape is the form that makes objects appear in the painting. Texture is how we perceive things, depending on how they look; if it has very fine and almost invisible lines, that makes it look clean, and if it has very thick and distorted lines, that makes it look very heavy. Volume is what gives weight and size to the art; if something looks very big, it will catch the most attention and might even be the main focus of the painting. Contrast is what makes us differentiate all the previous elements, like the difference and connection of colors.
